The closeness of church in a remote area

Our church is tucked away in the northwoods, an area that many people love simply because it is remote. Trees and lakes and hills make for a peaceful refuge for many who come to visit during holidays and summers. So how does a church thrive in such an area? We get creative!

All hands on deck

With a steady band of workers who provide consistency throughout the year, and lots more visiting volunteers jumping in to help during the busy times, we find we have what we need when we need it. In the summer, it is not uncommon to have guest readers for a Sunday or two, and other regular visitors have filled in as an extra Sunday School teacher when needed. We even have a regular visitor who has been doing additional landscaping work in the summer!

Expanding our reach with conference calls

There are a number of Christian Scientists that live in the northwoods but can't always make it to church because of the distance. So we've been having conference call Wednesday evening testimony meetings where individuals can call in to the live testimony meeting that we have in the church. Sometimes we have had up to four people call in for the service!

Reading Room sending out inspiration

Our Reading Room has been servicing our remote friends by sending out items that they have ordered and by keeping in touch via phone. Simply call in at 715-356-5991 on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays from 11am to 2pm to find out what's new!

Communicating to a wider community

There has been some wonderful feedback about our Quarterly Log and we are so happy to hear from you! We'll be keeping this up as well as continuing to keep up the connection with the new website for all Christian Science churches in Wisconsin www.christiansciencewisconsin.com.

Radio programs about the healing practice of Christian Science are available and can be heard over WTMJ at 6:30 (and on-line at www.WTMJ.com) each Sunday morning. You might try to listen in over WTMJ 620 AM.

New at the Christian Science Reading Room!

We Knew Mary Baker Eddy, Expanded Edition, Volume 1

This book weaves together a colorful tapestry of reminiscences by 22 individuals who interacted with Mary Baker Eddy- some for a few days, others for years.

For individuals familiar with an earlier version of We Knew Mary Baker Eddy, published in 1979, they will find that more than 40% of this expanded edition is new material. Three of the reminiscences have been amplified, and there are four never-before-published reminiscences.

To order this, or get news on other things happening at the Christian Science Reading Room, you can call Betty, Jackie, Ginny or Al at 715-356-5991.
